Whisky Varieties

Tullibardine Scotch Whisky made from the renowned pure water of the Danny Burn finished for 12 months in top-quality sherry butts

Kinahan's Irish Whiskey

the first protected whiskey trademark in history matured in oak casks for a minimum of six years

Finger Lakes Distilling McKenzie Rye made from local rye grain and finished in sherry barrels from local wineries.

The sherry balances the spiciness of the rye and also gives a nod to the wine region where this whiskey is produced

Filibuster Bourbon

initially aged in American oak for around eight years, finished in French oak casks that were previously used to mature wine
